

"Moncks Corner", "Tynes defeat" and "Eutaw." [Eutaw Springs] He saved the life of Captain W. R. Davis from the uplifted sword of a Britton, and continued and delivered two chargers to Genl Marion. After the revolution he married Mary Mitchell, became a member of the M. E. Church and died in the full hope of a blissful immortality, leaving nine children to revere his memory & imitate his example.

In memory of Mary, consort of John A. Bradford, who was born Black River, Sumter District, August 20th 1768 and died at her residence made 19th, 1848.

In early life she embraced religion and continued an exemplary member of the M. E. Church for nearly 35 years. She was the mother of eleven children, and left two daughters and three sons to lament her loss.

State of South Carolina Sumter district: On this 15th day of August 1854 Before the Subscribing Magistrate in and for Sumter district personally appeared William Wade Bradford of Sumter district aged about 50 years, who being duly sworn according to law on his oath Swears that he is one of the children of John A Bradford deceased able Revolutionary Soldier; that Deponent was about 25 years old when his said father died who related many incidents of his connection with the Army Such as "His father (deponent's grandfather) was and old and infirm man who procured a parole from the enemy to remain at home"

That deponent's grandfather was opposed to his father's going into service but in consequence of the enemy having taken from him a sack of meal which deponent's father was conveying home from the mill, if so exasperated his said father that he was induced to steal his grandfather's horse, boots & spurs and proceeded to join General Marion's Army and continued to serve during hostilities under Captain Joseph Hill, Warren R. Davis and others: That Davis's horse was shot from under him in a skirmish at which time deponent's father Davis's life by shooting a British officer in the arm and took him prisoner; That deponent's father frequently spoke of having received no compensation for his services in the Army and never did apply nor did he think it worth while to make any application during or after the war because the currency was worthless and of no account: That an application was made recently for record evidence of his father's Services or indents issued in his favor from the State of South Carolina but for the reason above stated the Comptroller reports that the name of John A Bradford or John Bradford Junior was not found. He further swears that about seven years ago this deponent received a formal deposition proving the Services of his said father to be signed by the late John China<sup>1</sup> a Revolutionary pensioner to which he procured the Signature of said China which sustained and corroborated a similar affidavit made by William Vaughan<sup>2</sup> a fellow soldier of his said father: that these affidavits were turned over by deponent to a lawyer with a view of obtaining a pension for his mother the said the papers were entirely satisfactory excepting some difficulty about proof of marriage & the case was dropped & on inquiry the depositions of China & Vaughan are lost or mislaid & beyond the control of this deponent and he verily believes they are not in existence.

State of South Carolina Sumter district: On the 15th day of July 1854 Before the Subscribing Magistrate for the State and district aforesaid personally appeared William Vaughan aged eighty-nine years and upwards a Revolutionary pensioner and a resident of said district who being duly sworn according to law upon his oath swears:

That his Father emigrated from the State of Virginia in the year 1772 to the State of South Carolina within two miles of the residence of Nathaniel Bradford and family in Sumter district who originally were also Virginians: That from an early period of this deponent's boyhood he knew and associated on the most Sociable and intimate terms with John Angel Bradford, son of the said Nathaniel Bradford, until he died in this District 30 years ago: That John Angel Bradford aforesaid and this deponent volunteered at same time their services for the achievement of American Independence in the Militia Company of Captain Joseph Hill and Regiment commanded by Colonel Richard Richardson attached to General Marion's Brigade and mustered into said service in the beginning of October 1780 and continued to serve in other Companies occasionally under different Commanders during hostilities with the enemy and retired from the Service in the month of June 1782 but held themselves in readiness to join the service again whenever called upon but were not again called into service for which Service this deponent has been allowed an annual pension of $83.33 since 4th March 1831 -- under the act of Congress of the 7th of June 1832: He further swears there were two Bradfords who served at same time with this deponent mainly John Bradford and the aforesaid John a Bradford, who were cousins and known and designated as Senior & Junior, the said John a Bradford being the younger, but senior in eight or nine months to this deponent: That during all of said time this deponent and said John A Bradford were constantly in Service except on a few occasions when they were permitted to return home but never for more than two or three days at a time: This deponent moreover swears that he knows the said John A Bradford was equally punctual as himself on all occasions of duty & that he was with him at the Battles of Moncks Corner, QuenBee [sic, Quinby], Eutaw Springs; that this deponent has understood by repeated that the said John A Bradford saved the life of Captain Warren R. Davis from the impending sword of a British officer by wounding him in the arm and assisting in taking him prisoner but the deponent was not present at that skirmish on that occasion.

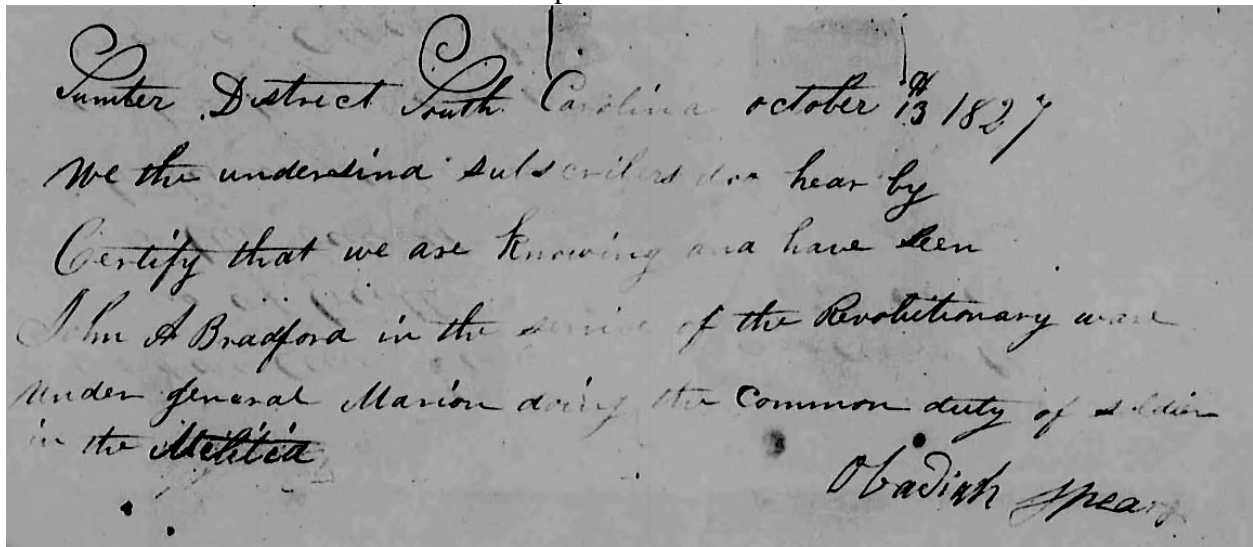

That the said John a Bradford married Mary Mitchell, who lived together as husband and wife, and were so reputed until he died upwards of 30 years ago as aforesaid leaving the said Mary his widow and five surviving children four a now only survive never again married but continued the widow of the said John Angel Bradford until she died 5 or 6 years ago. That this deponent did not attend the marriage of the said John A Bradford and Mary Mitchell, but was at the infare [sic ?], nor does he recollect the precise time but it was sometime before this deponent married which is now upwards of 65 years ago. He makes this deposition <sup>for the purpose</sup> of the children of the said John A Bradford and Mary Branford receiving the arrears of pension to which they may be entitled for the Services of their said father in said war: He further swears that he has no interest directly or indirectly in said pension or its prosecution. The words "for the purpose" in the ninth line interlined before signed.
