The State of Mississippi Holmes County

On this the 24th day of September A.D. 1833 personally appeared in open Court being the Court of Probates for the County aforesaid before me William L. Trimble Judge of said Court, Zachariah Evans a resident of Holmes County in the State aforesaid aged 69 years who being first sworn according to law, doth on his oath make the following declaration in order to obtain the benefit of the provision made by the Act of Congress passed June 7th 1832 (To Wit) That he volunteered in the Militia Troops of North Carolina in the fall of the year of 1779 with Captain Spillman Coleman [sic, Spillsby Coleman] in the Regiment of Colonel Farmer. That Dudley Gatewood succeeded to Spillman Coleman in the command of the Company. That he does not recollect his subsequent captains. That Colonel Mayburn [sic, Robert Mebane] succeeded Colonel Farmer in the Command of the Regiment in which he was under whom he served, until the death of Colonel Mebane which happened only a short time previous to the capture of Lord Cornwallis. That after the death of Colonel Mebane he had no Colonel: if he had he has forgotten it. That at the time he entered the service he resided in the County of Caswell in the State of North Carolina about 3 miles distance from Caswell Court house. That he entered the service, as well as he can recollect about the 20th day of December 1779 and continued in the service, until the news came that Cornwallis had surrendered, at which time he was discharged and returned home. That he does not now recollect what he did with his original discharge, which he received from Colonel William Moore at the time of his quitting the service. That he believes that it was destroyed among other papers that he considered valueless, many years since. That in a short time after volunteering, the troops assembled in Caswell County and proceeded in a body to Solsbury [sic, Salisbury] in the State of North Carolina, where they received their arms &c. That according to his best recollection and belief he was in the service one year and 10 months. That he was in the following Battles to wit: The Battle at the Widow Tarns's Lane [sic, Tarrant's or Torrence's or Tarrance's Lane]. The Battle 3 miles below Batey's ford [sic, Beatties Ford] on the Catawba River on the morning of the same day of the Battle at the Widow Tarns's Lane, in which General Davidson was killed.<sup>1</sup> That he was in two other Battles whilst in pursuit of the Governor (Burke) of North Carolina, who was taken by the Tories at Hillsboro in North Carolina and taken from thence to Wilmington to the British. That he was in several skirmishes to minute to mention. That he marched through the following Country; (To Wit) From Salisbury to the Catawba River, from thence to Boyas [?] Ferry on Dan River, the line between Virginia and North Carolina, from thence across Dan River into the State of Virginia, from thence in pursuit of Lord Cornwallis to Hillsboro in North Carolina, from thence up on the waters of the Haw and Adkin [sic, Yadkin] rivers and from thence the Army marched to Guilford Court house. That at the High Rock Ford of Haw River he was discharged for a few days for the purpose of going to see his parents in the County of Caswell aforesaid And that during his absence the Battle of Guilford Court house was fought and that at Hillsboro he joined the Army again and went on in pursuit of the party that had taken Governor Burke and pursued them near to Wilmington when the news came that Cornwallis was taken at which place he received his final discharge and returned home. That he served as a common soldier during his service except a short time when he acted as a fifer, but that he always considered himself a common soldier. That in a short time after the Battle 3 miles below Beatties Ford his troop fell in with General Green [sic, Nathanael Greene] and Morgan and was by them commanded until the battle at Guilford Court house, when Greene and Morgan went to South Carolina. That his service was uninterrupted except by the visit to his parents aforesaid

He hereby relinquishes every claim whatever to a pension or an annuity except the present and he declares that his name is not on the pension roll of any agency in any State.

Sworn to and subscribed before me on the day and year aforesaid
