NOTES:

On 23 Aug 1843 Mary Strohl, "85 years and upwards," applied for a pension stating that her late husband, Jacob Strohl, was "in many battles viz Germantown [4 Oct 1777], Brandywine Monmouth [28 Jun 1778] and many others," that she married him on 17 Jan 1776, and he died on 26 May 1828. The file contains an extract from the records of the German Reformed Church of Lancaster transcribed as follows: "1776/ January 17. Jacob Strohl and Mary Bloodgate were married."

The file contains a letter by Isaac Strohl of Ephrata PA dated 1 May 1855 advising that "Christian Strohl has applied for the Bounty Land that the heirs of Jacob Strohl (dece) a soldier of the Revolution are entitled to, said Christian Strohl Haveing already Drawn the pension secretly & appropriated the same to his own use," and requesting that the land not be granted to him. A note on the letter indicates that the warrant for the bounty land had already been issued to Jacob Strohl on 1 May 1826.
