Joel Lewis in Surry County North Carolina, on the 22nd day of March 1785, who at an early period of the Revolutionary war, left College in Virginia and entered the service of his country as a volunteer, that not long afterwards, his father having removed to the state of North Carolina, he obtained a commission in one of the Regiments of North Carolina Continental troops, and continued in the service in various grades until the close of the war, actively employed, was taken prisoner at Gates’s defeat near Camden [defeat of Gen. This day personally appeared before Wilkins Tannehill, an acting Justice of the Peace for the County aforesaid Thomas Hickman [pension application S4371], aged Eighty years, and being duly sworn, makes oath as follows, that he was born in Albemarle County Virginia in the year 1762; that his father continued to reside there until the year 1772 and in that or the succeeding year removed to the southern part of the State of Virginia, and shortly afterwards to the State of North Carolina, Surry County, where he continued to reside during the whole of the revolutionary war, that in the year 1785 he the said Thomas Hickman, removed to Nashville, in Davidson County, now Middle Tennessee, that in the year 1788 he was elected Sheriff of Davidson County, in which capacity he served two years, and has continued to reside in the same County ever since; that he served in the Revolutionary war and now receives a pension from the Gen’l government. He further states that he was acquainted in Albemarle Co Virginia with William Terrill Lewis, Senior, the father of William Terrill Lewis Jr, Micajah Green Lewis, Joel Lewis, and James Martin Lewis and his family, all of whom were good and true whigs in the war of Independence, in which they served. About the year 1776 or 1777 William T. Lewis Sen’r removed to Surry County North Carolina, bringing with him his sons William T. Lewis and Joel Lewis, for each of whom in a short time afterwards, he obtained a commission of Ensign in one of the North Carolina regiments, his older son, Micajah G Lewis, at the same time holding a Lieutenants commission in the Fourth Regiment of the North Carolina Continental troops; that from the time of their entering the service they were active, enterprising officers and were promoted to higher grades during the war. that they were engaged in several of the battles in the South; that Micajah G. Lewis was killed in a night skirmish with the enemy [at Dickey’s Farm in NC, 26 Feb 1781] a few days before the battle of Guilford Court House; that Joel Lewis was taken prisoner by the tories, on the retreat from Camden on the evening of the day of Gates’s defeat, and afterwards made his escape; this deponent having a particular knowledge of these occurrences from having been attached to the same army at the same time.

He further states that he was in the battle of the Alamance [Clapp’s Mill near Alamance Creek, 2 mar 1781] and he also believes in that of Guilford [Guilford Courthouse NC, 15 Mar 1781] with Joel Lewis, who was among what were at that time called the deranged officers, being supernumerances of the regiments, that went on to the State of Virginia; that Joel Lewis was continually employed as an active partizan officer, being among the formost at all times to engage in any enterprize that might be on foot against the common enemy. That he was well known as a good officer, and at the close of the war was the commanding Colonel of what was called the North Carolina State regiment. This deponent further states that Colonel Joel Lewis was married to his wife Miriam in the year 1784 or 1785, that he saw them living together as man and wife in Surry County North Carolina previously to his removing to Tennessee; that in the year 1790 or 1791 Col Joel Lewis removed with his family to the vicinity of Nashville Davidson County, Tennessee, where they reared a numerous family and lived together until the death of Colonel Lewis, which according to his recollection was in the year 1816. He further states that he was intimately acquainted with Col Lewis and his wife Miriam, that after the death of Col. Lewis she married Col Ralph Crabb, who is since dead, but at what period he died this deponent is unable to say.
