THE CHESTERFIELD SIZE ROLL: SOLDIERS WHO ENTERED THE CONTINENTAL LINE OF VIRGINIA AT CHESTERFIELD COURTHOUSE AFTER 1 SEPTEMBER 1780

INTRODUCTION

Size rolls are lists of soldiers recording their heights and appearances, as well as occupations and places of birth and residence. The original purpose of aiding in the capture of deserters has long since expired, but size rolls are of enduring value to genealogists and students of military and social history. The size rolls transcribed here are for revolutionary soldiers who were processed into the Continental Line of Virginia at Chesterfield Courthouse during Sep 1780 and afterward. Some were already Continental soldiers who had served in the North, but most were drafted under a Virginia law enacted in May 1780, which required each county whose militia was not already engaged to recruit or draft one militiaman out of each 15 over age 18 to serve in the Continental army until the end of 1781. This law was necessitated by the almost total destruction of the Virginia Continental Line with the surrender of Charleston SC on 12 May 1780 and the defeat of Col. Abraham Buford at Waxhaws SC on the following May 29. Those enlisted under the May 1780 act were commonly referred to as "18-months men."

The recruits rendezvoused at Fredericksburg, the city of Richmond, Winchester, Accomack courthouse, Alexandria, or Staunton, then continued on to Chesterfield Courthouse, where they were transferred into the Continental line. In the process of being sized probably each man would have announced his name, age, occupation, and places of birth and residence while having his height measured and color of hair, eyes, and complexion recorded. These records would then have been compiled and entered into the book transcribed here. Errors undoubtedly occurred in each step of this process, as can be seen by comparing duplicate entries and by comparing the spellings of names on the size roll with signatures on pension applications. Other discrepancies appear in comparing these data with data for the same soldiers in the size roll referenced below as "Register & Description of Noncommissioned Officers & Privates." (Soldiers on both size rolls are denoted by [^].) For example, James Harris is recorded as 5′ 3¾″ tall with brown hair in the Chesterfield size roll but as 5′ 4¼″ tall with black hair in the latter size roll.

The history of the size roll after the Revolutionary War is somewhat obscure. A sheet inserted into the book has the following two notes in different handwritings:

> "Size-Roll of Troops join'd at Chesterfield Ct. House since Sept. 1st 1780 Capt'n. Joseph Scott"
> "This book is a Supplement to 'Papers concerning the Army of the Revolution' Vol 1, Executive Depart. and in order, preceeds Benjamin Harrison's Mission to Philadelphia by the Assembly. 1781"

Although the first note above mentions Joseph Scott, and the catalog of the Library of Virginia cites Scott as author, it is likely that he was only the officer in charge of compiling the book. Another officer involved was Lt. William Eskridge (pension application W4192), an adjutant who signed himself on the final page of the size roll as "William Eskridge Leut. & Adj. to the Station a Cumberland Old Court House." On a slip of paper in the file of Moses Russell (W5754) Eskridge signed himself "William Eskridge Lt & Adj to the Gen'l. Rendezvous." The second note above led to the size roll's being frequently referred to as the "Chesterfield Supplement." Documents in pension applications indicate that from at least 1837 through 1851 it was in the Auditor's Office in Richmond where it was used as evidence in processing veterans' claims. There appears to be no information on when or how the book became part of "Papers concerning the Army of the Revolution." The size rolls are now available to the public only as a bound photocopy. As far as is known they have never before been completely transcribed, although names, ages, and places of birth and residence were compiled by Mrs. James R. Lindsay and published from 1964 through 1968. Goldenberg, Nelson, and Fletcher (1979) also published a statistical analysis of some of the data. In addition, the names of officers at Chesterfield Courthouse were published anonymously in 1920. (Refer to references at end.)

I have tried to transcribe each letter and number as written, trusting that the reader can interpret misspellings as well as I can. To facilitate online searching, however, I have added full and alternative spellings of names in brackets where needed and have added file numbers for soldiers who applied for pensions. Uncertainties are indicated by [?]. In cases where a soldier's data were duplicated, I show the data only once except for differences in the two entries. Because the tables are too wide for a standard page, I have split each into two parts, which necessitates numbering each row.

The book begins with an index showing the page ("folio") numbers where surnames beginning with each letter of the alphabet occur. Most of the original pages are numbered in both upper corners; in the transcripts I have put those page numbers in parentheses. It appears that the book originally had only one page per letter of the alphabet, and when that page was full additional entries under the same letter had to be moved to later pages in the book. In the meantime some pages at the end were used for accounts. As a result some entries had to be entered into a second book referred to as "B," which has not been found, except possibly for one unnumbered page with surnames starting with S, which is included with this transcription. The size roll also refers to a separate register for deserters, which also has not been found.

HOW THEY SERVED

After the eighteen-months men had been sized they were assigned to different regiments, which were later reorganized. I will not attempt a detailed account of these arrangements, but will sketch the services of the 18-month men based primarily on pension applications. The 18-month soldiers had expected to spend the winter of 1780-81 at Chesterfield Courthouse, and under the command of Col. William Davies they set about building barracks "consisting of about one hundred & sixty Cabins." Two events soon changed this plan. First, in November Gen. Nathanael Greene was sent to replace Gen. Horatio Gates as commander of the Southern Department after Gates's disastrous defeat at Camden SC (16 Aug 1780). Greene sent his Aide-de-Camp, Gen. Baron Friedrich von Steuben, ahead to Chesterfield Courthouse to raise men for his shattered army. The second event was the raid by Gen. Benedict Arnold in early January 1781, which resulted in many of the 18-months men being deployed to various places along the James River.

After Greene replaced Gates in early December, Steuben, having succeeded Davies as Inspector General at Chesterfield Courthouse, ordered 400 of the 18-months men to join Greene. One regiment commanded by Col. John Green joined Gen. Greene at his winter bivouac near Cheraw SC in January. In a short time, however, they and the rest of Greene's army rushed to join Gen. Daniel Morgan, who had captured 600 British at Cowpens SC on 17 Jan 1781 and was being pursued through North Carolina by Cornwallis. Greene's army reached the safety of Virginia on February 14, then returned to North Carolina and played cat-and-mouse with Cornwallis for the next month. A second regiment of 18-months men under Col. Richard Campbell joined Greene near Guilford Courthouse a few days before the battle there on March 15. Most of the 18-months men in the two regiments were in the Battle of Guilford Courthouse, and many subsequently fought under Greene at the Battle of Hobkirk Hill near Camden SC (25 Apr 1781), the Siege of Ninety Six SC (22 May - 19 Jun 1781), and the Battle of Eutaw Springs SC (8 Sep 1781).

Col. Green resigned soon after the Battle of Guilford Courthouse and was replaced by Lt. Col. Samuel Hawes, who resigned at Ninety Six. Command of the regiment then fell to Maj. Smith Snead, who discharged his 18-months men after their terms expired at the end of 1781. Col. Richard Campbell was mortally wounded at Eutaw Springs. His regiment had suffered so many casualties, and the survivors were so close to the end of their 18 months, that Greene did not replace Campbell.

Pension declarations refer to the following most consistently as captains in the two regiments:
Regiment of Green/Hawes/Snead: John Anderson, Thomas Armistead, Thomas Barbee, William Bentley (captured at Ninety Six), Valentine Harrison, Benjamin Lawson (died and was replaced by Sigismund Stribling), Samuel Selden, Tarpley White.
Regiment of Campbell: Archibald Denholm, Philip Kirkpatrick, John Marks, Simon Morgan, Conway Oldham (killed at Eutaw Springs and replaced by Robert Jouett), Philip Sansum.

After recovering from his costly victory at Guilford Courthouse, Cornwallis marched his army northward. Virginia militias were mobilized to meet the invasion, thereby putting them beyond reach of the May 1780 law. Unable to draft any more 18-month men, Steuben planned to take what men he could muster and equip to join Greene in North Carolina, attack Cornwallis there, and perhaps lure the British already in Virginia out of that state. Although Steuben refers only to militia in a letter to Gen. Washington dated 15 Apr 1781, pension declarations indicate that some of the 18-month men from Chesterfield Courthouse were on this expedition. Steuben got as far as the Roanoke River before turning back, or possibly being ordered back by the Virginia legislature, which wanted the army for the immediate defense of the state. Back in Virginia the 18-month men were detailed to a variety of places under various commands, including the regiments of colonels Christian Febiger, Thomas Gaskins, and Peter Muhlenberg. After a summer of shadowing and occasionally skirmishing with the British, most ended up at Yorktown during the siege (28 Sep - 19 Oct). After the surrender of Cornwallis and his army many served out the remainder of their time escorting prisoners to Winchester Barracks, while others were dismissed before the expiration of their time at the end of 1781.
