State of Virginia }
County of Morgan } SS.

On this 24th day of February 1834 personally appeared, before the County Court of Morgan David Catlett, a resident of Morgan County, in State of Virginia, aged about seventy eight years, who being first duly sworn according to law, doth on his oath make the following declaration, in order to obtain the benefit of the provision made by the act of Congress, passed June 7th 1832. That he entered the militia service of the United States about the commencement of the Revolutionary War, in a company of militia commanded by Captain Nicewander [sic: John Nisewanger], Captain Nicewander then lived in Newtown Frederick County, Virginia, from which County this applicant marched with the company to Fort Pitt, in an expedition against the Indians, who, it was said were instigated to attack the frontier settlements, by the Brittish; he was stationed some time at Fort Pitt; this applicant's brother, Henry Catlett, was the Lieutenant of the company, and his Cousin Robert Catlett was the ensign, he does not recollect the name of any other officers who were with him, the company lay in Winchester, Frederick County Virginia, two weeks previous to marching to Fort Pitt, he was engaged in no battles during his expedition, his Cousin Robert Catlett, he recollects was at one time absent from the Fort, on some excursion, near it and was wounded by an Indian; in this service he was engaged for three months and was discharged at Fort Pitt. After his return to Frederick County Virginia, he again entered the militia service, in a company commanded by Captain Adam Heiskell [Adam Hiskill], who died a few years ago, at Romney, in Hampshire County, Virginia, and marched from near Winchester to within sixty miles of Philadelphia to guard down five hundred Hessians [probably captured at the Battle of Trenton NJ, 26 Dec 1776] who were delivered up to some authority who received them there and he was then discharged. During this service he was engaged three months, his Lieutenant was named [Benjamin] Elkins and about six months previous to the close of the Revolutionary War, he again entered the militia service at Winchester Frederick County Virginia in a company commanded by Captain Marcus Calamese [sic: Marquis Calmes], his brother William Calamese [William Calmes, pension application S9303] was the Lieutenant of the company and the Corps to which he was attached was commanded by General Darke [sic: Col. William Darke], with this company he marched to York Town in Virginia and served for a time, he does not recollect whether for three or six months, but is willing it should be entered for three months, but knows he served in all more than nine months, was present at the Siege, and was discharged about a week previous to the surrender [19 Oct 1781], saw General Lafayette there, and many other officers whose names he cannot now recollect, his is very old and infirm, his memory greatly failed him so that he can not detail many things that occured in these expeditions that was once familiar to him. There is no Clergyman residing in his neighbourhood with whom he is acquainted, to testify in relation to him, he resided in Frederick County Virginia, did from the time of his discharge twenty for years ago when he removed to Morgan County Virginia where he now resides, he knows of no witness living who can testify to his service, he relies on his general reputation for veracity which is known to every member of the County Court of Morgan, as evidence that his statements are to be relied on. Subscribed and sworn to the day and year aforesaid. [signed] David Catlett
