NOTE: On 30 Apr 1855 Jane Chandler, 88, applied for a pension stating that she married Samuel Chandler in Sumter District in the fall of 1790, and he died 10 Feb 1852. In support of her application, Samuel E. Frierson, 78, deposed that he had been a school teacher of their three children - Sarah, Samuel (deceased), and Thomas Chandler.

[Methodology: Spelling, punctuation and/or grammar have been corrected in some instances for ease of reading and to facilitate searches of the database. Where the meaning is not compromised by adhering to the spelling, punctuation or grammar, no change has been made. Corrections or additional notes have been inserted within brackets or footnotes. Blanks appearing in the transcripts reflect blanks in the original. A bracketed question mark indicates that the word or words preceding it represent(s) a guess by me. Only materials pertinent to the military service of the veteran and to contemporary events have been transcribed. Affidavits that provide additional information on these events are included and genealogical information is abstracted, while standard, 'boilerplate' affidavits and attestations related solely to the application, and later nineteenth and twentieth century research requests for information have been omitted. I use speech recognition software to make all my transcriptions. Such software misinterprets my southern accent with unfortunate regularity and my poor proofreading fails to catch all misinterpretations. Also, dates or numbers which the software treats as numerals rather than words are not corrected: for example, the software transcribes "the eighth of June one thousand eighty six" as "the 8th of June 1786." Please call errors or omissions to my attention.]

Personally appeared in open Court on this the 5th day of November 1833 before me Richard Gantt one of the Associate Judges of the said State and a presiding Judge of the Court of Common Pleas & Sessions in said State, the said Court now sitting for Sumter district, Samuel Chandler who makes oath to the declaration here following, by way of amendment to his declaration already filed for a Pension. That he is now seventy years of age – that he has no record of his age. That in 1780 he entered the service of the United States as a private Soldier – that he was drafted into the company of Captain John Nelson, Thomas McFadden was the Lieutenant. Captain Nelson's Company was a Corps of infantry attached to the Regiment of Colonel Richard Richardson. In February 1780, this deponent with the company marched by Murray's ferry on Santee [River] to Charleston. Soon after arriving at Charleston, the City was besieged by the British under General Clinton – the siege lasted until the 8th of May when the Americans surrendered. This deponent with the company was put on parole – remained on parole for one year when he was lawfully exchanged. This tour lasted for a year and four months.

His second tour of duty commenced in May 1781. This deponent was ordered into camp by General Marion. This deponent was ordered to the company of Captain John Nelson in which he had been drafted & had done duty previous to his capture and being put on parole after the fall of Charleston. He was again a private. He entered the company at Santee & marched to McCord's ferry on Congaree [River]. Joined General Green [Nathanael Greene] after crossing the Congaree at Fort Defiance, near a notorious place, then called the Motley place. Thence they marched to some mills near Orangeburg where they halted, expecting an attack from the British who were then in Orangeburg. Here they captured a British commissary, who had come to the mills for grinding. They thence marched to the [?] about twelve miles above Orangeburg where they were reinforced by General Sumter & Colonel Pickens – the whole then marched to Orangeburg, where the British avoided an action. They then marched to the four holes [Four Holes Bridge] between Santee & Orangeburg and from there after several skirmishes with the British – Tories & scouting parties, they marched to Biggin Church, where the scrimmage took place. The British burned the church & marched to Quinby. The troops with which this deponent was followed, and the battle took place. The British were commanded by Colonel Coates, & the Americans by Sumter and Marion. The Americans retreated in order to get the Artillery in the next day, but the British received a reinforcement from Charleston. This made them too strong, and the American troops all marched to Santee crossed over into Sumter district. Here this deponent got leave to go home for clothes. This tour of duty lasted from May until August.

This deponent after remaining at home a month commenced his third tour. He joined Captain Nelson's company at Benbow's ferry on Black River. Nelson selected twenty of his men to go in search of the Tories who had killed John Roberts and Thomas Bradley. This deponent was one. They went but could not find the Tories after whom they were in search, & returned to the company on Santee. They continued in camp at on Santee for a month & when the British who were on the other side of Santee moved off to town (Charleston) the American troops crossed Santee & encamped at White Oak. They remained there two months, & were relieved & allowed to go home for a month. This tour lasted from August until 1 January 1783.

His fourth tour commenced in 1783 as a private in the same company of Captain Nelson. In February of that year they encamped at Sindaine [?] Plantation below Murray's ferry & remained there until April, doing scouting duty – thence they were ordered across the PeeDee [Pedee River] in search of Gainey & his gang of Tories. Upon a proclamation made, many of them came in. The American troops marched to Murray's ferry on Santee – Captain Nelson's company was ordered to Lynches Creek in search of the Tories whom they found encamped in Doyall's bay [?] – here they burnt the camps – they were then sent around to see if the Tories would come in under the proclamation. They then joined the camp at strawberry in October, & continued encamped until November after this was encamped at Wambaa [Wambaw] – & then at Wadboo – & at Bina's ferry [?] – and then again at Wadboo – where this deponent was discharged. This deponent was discharged with the rest but received no written discharge. His whole service not including the time he was on parole, was two years & one month. He refers to the testimony of Thomas Wilson¹ & William McElveen, ² & to the testimony of Catherine Truluck which accompanies this declaration as confirming the truth of his statement, & to John McElveen, William Kennedy, Esquire, Captain James K Law, David Durant late Sheriff, & every individual in his neighborhood who can testify to their belief of his services, & the goodness of his character for truth & veracity.

On this the 26th day of June in the year of our Lord 1834 before me Franklin Moses one of the Justices of the Quorum in and for said district & State Samuel Chandler personally appeared who by way of further amendment to his declaration for a pension in conformity with the requisition of the Pension Department, states on oath, that in the first tour described in his amended declaration he served in actual service four months and was a prisoner on parole one year.

² William McElveen S21880

That his second described tour commenced in May 1781. That he remained in said tour as described in actual service from May to August 1781.

That there is an unintended error as to dates in reference to the third tour described in his said amended declaration. The period of which he actually commenced said third tour was in October 1781 and he remained on it under actual service until 1 January 1782.

That his fourth tour of duty as described in said amended declaration commenced in February 1782 – and he remained in service until peace was declared – he was discharged the fall or last of the year 1782. The error in reference to the service named of amended declaration is to be attributed to the infirm memory of deponent which led him to think that peace was declared in fall or last of 1783.

This deponent on oath says, that he was in actual service at least not less than two years – but he thinks two years and one month.
