By "General Lee," Chapman probably meant Lt. Col. Henry Lee. However, Gen. Nathanael Greene

was in command at the Siege of Ninety Six.

On 26 Sep 1838 Lucy B. Chapman of Fentress County TN, born 4 Dec 1769 according to her sister's record, applied for a pension stating that she was married to John Chapman by Obadiah Eckhols, a Baptist preacher, in Halifax County on 1 Feb 1791, and her husband died in Cumberland County KY on 25 Dec 1833. Her statement was certified by one of their four children, John Chapman, born on 21 April 1802. He also stated that his oldest brother, Rawley Chapman, was born on 30 June 1793, married in Virginia in 1813, and had four children. Lucy B. Chapman's attorney stated that Rawley Chapman "has a large family and two children that I would suppose the youngest of the two to be upward of Twenty one years old," and that Lucy B. Chapman "is now in a spell of Bilious fever, I think will probably survive." On 13 April 1843 Lucy B. Chapman stated that her husband had died in the part of Cumberland County that became Clinton County, and that she was living "near the Kentucky line about one mile and a half south of it."
